"Life"

Life is a game.
We are the players,
Playing the best we know how;
If you are beat,
Don't let it wrangle—
No one can win all the time.
Sometimes the odds
Seem dead against you—
What has to be has to be.
But smile just the same,
For life is a game
And God is a fine referee!

HER fine, positive attitude toward life was highly appreciated by all who knew Beatrice Houston. It is expressed, in a measure, by this poem — author unknown — which was found, penned in the above form, among her books after her death.

Class History

By Letha Ritter

One bright sunny morning in the fall of 1918, twenty-seven eager-faced lads and lassies sat around the brown tables in the kindergarten of the old Lincoln building. We were greeted by our dear friend, Miss Ella Canavan.

We were safely guided through our first years and spent many happy days with our teachers in the Lincoln Building. It was with regret that we left them to begin our work in the Garfield building, Miss Tubbs being our first teacher. Under her skillful guidance, we were soon busy in the work of the third grade.

The years passed by all too swiftly and ere we realized it we were sent to the High School to become eighth grade pupils of Miss Wheatley. While in the eighth grade we had our first class party. Imagine our delight when Miss Wheatley promoted us to the 9B grade. At last, we had climbed to what seemed to us the ladder of success; we were about to enter the land of fame—High School. After a few words of advice we bade our dear friend and teacher, Miss Wheatley, farewell and moved to Room 117.

Here we met eighteen new students from out of town schools, making in all fifty-one Freshmen. With "fear and trembling" we went about our duties that first day. Mr. Fenn faithfully endured our faults and watched over us this first year.

At the beginning of the second year fifty-three gay young Sophomores moved to Room 227 under the guiding hand of Miss Houston.

In September "28" we assumed the responsibilities of Juniors. Mr. Kellogg now took charge of us and helped us over one of the roughest spots in our school; editing a successful Annual. We also entertained the Seniors, at the Junior-Senior Banquet which was a very successful affair.

The wheels of time rolled around and we, last fall, became dignified Seniors. We entered Room 229 again under the guiding hand of our dear friends, Miss Houston. During the first term we were saddened by her death. Miss Allen was then given the honor of being Senior Home Room teacher.

The Senior year without a doubt is the shortest year of all. The Class of "30" is especially glad that we have a Superintendent that has been "One of Us," always entering with enthusiasm in whatever the class has undertaken.

Members of our class have taken part in Athletics, Debate, Music and Friday morning assembly programs. We also presented a very successful lecture course and class play, "Nobody but Nancy." And it is with sad hearts that we end our High School days, and go forth into the world. We depart from Medina High with the hope that the future history of our class may be one that will be filled with records of future happy days and worth-while accomplishments.

Aviation Today

Leroy Williams, Class President

When we speak of aviation it seems that we immediately form a mental picture of an airplane, so closely are the terms related in our mental processes. Whereas, the airplane is only one of the many important subjects covered in the broad and scientific field of aviation. In discussing the subject of aviation I shall only attempt to briefly touch upon the subject of the airplane and airship in their relation to aviation in general.

The present airplane is now twenty-five years old. It is a fairly finished product and we are reasonably familiar with its possibilities. It has been put to a variety of tests and uses in all parts of the world and we now have a fairly accurate knowledge of its usefulness to man. It is past the guessing stage and it has now reached the stage of practical development. We are no longer flying blindly. The airplane was first used as an instrument of warfare. For some time, this was its only use and objective. Its next use was largely for pleasure. A few years ago, another important use for it came to the attention of the public when the Government began to use it as a means of transportation for mails. It is now indispensable to this service. The Government now has numerous regularly chartered air mail routes extending not only, all over the United States, but also penetrating into practically every important country of the western Hemisphere. Many of these air mail routes afford us the means of communication with formerly isolated regions of the outside world.

We are now living in that period of civilization known as the age "of travel in the air." It has ceased to be a "game" and has become a business. It will become a bigger business only as the public patronizes it. If air travel has become an accepted means of travel it should be sold on the same basis as any other transportation. That is, on its economy, comfort, speed and dependability. Air transportation companies stand on the threshold of a large volume of business. The volume must be developed much as the railroads increased passenger traffic. The temporary affluence of some companies possessing valuable mail contracts is passing and airplanes are assuming their places in the general transportation scheme alongside trains, stages and steamships.

Aircraft seem destined to play the leading role among modes of conveyance of the future. Transoceanic travel, in particular, will be revolutionized. The great questions at this stage is whether aircraft development will be along the lines of airplanes or of airships. In the end the traveling public will answer that question, for the crux of the whole matter is the paying load.

The airplanes greater speed is of course recognized, nothing can rival that. However, there are other qualifications that must be considered such as safety, comfort, cost of maintenance and general efficiency.

Returning to the point of view of the passenger. What a man is liable to think of first, when preparing to hop off, is safety. Human beings are land animals and do not naturally take to the air. If the average man is to be persuaded to book passage of air, he must be transported with a minimum of unfavorable reaction. This deep psychological hindrance airplanes, as yet, have been unable to overcome. The airship in this case has a handicap over the airplane, for the dirigible is the only true ship of the air. Just as an ocean liner floats on the water, a dirigible floats in the air, in its own medium and moves so steadily that there is not even a suggestion of sea sickness. The absence of noise and the smoothness of operation almost equals the fabled magic carpet. The traveling public has been educated by the agencies which serve it to expect a maximum amount of ease and comfort and even the aircraft will have to compete on the basis of comfort first, and speed second.

In dealing with these two types of aircraft, we must bring in the question of motor troubles. The airship's motors, any or all, may cease to function and the draft will float smoothly along until its propulsive power is again available, while the stalling of the airplane motors immediately endangers the lives of its passengers and in a few seconds or moments, if the motive power ceases to function, the pilot must either side slip or glide to a forced landing, crash; or, he and his passengers must descend by means of parachutes; or, in aviation terms, by the caterpillar route.

According to Casey Jones, "You can teach any one to fly but you cannot teach him to think." The ability of concentration that one learns in school is one of the fundamental factors which will determine his talent as an aviator. With this acquired knowledge the growing generation will be better prepared for the aviation of tomorrow.

The United States trails in aeronautics. The navy department has been the greatest hindrance to the development of aeronautics in this country, preventing the organization of a department of the air, with a secretary in the President's cabinet. For example, Great Britain established a Ministry of Aviation separate from her army and navy in 1917, because it became evident during the war that a conflict of authority and divided responsibility between army and navy made it impossible for them to operate aircraft efficiently. The United States is a progressive nation and may be depended upon to soon take such measures as are necessary to give her supremacy in the air.

Fifteen thousand pilots are now being trained each year; the best mechanics of the present day are devoting their time and energy to making both the airplanes and airships as mechanically perfect as they can make them. The most carefully tested materials known to man are being used in the construction of these machines. Hence, it would seem that the impossible has come to pass; and that man has gone far in his struggle to conquer the air. We are now in the age of practical commercial air transportation. At present, it is not as safe as transportation by automobile but its dangers are rapidly diminishing. If safety is not your deepest concern you will do well to consider travel by air; for it has much to offer you. If you want speed, style, convenience and all the interesting people of this day for your fellow passengers and new wealths of beauty for your eyes to admire, and a thrill or two, perhaps, and—possibly some things to talk about afterwards—then, by all means, try traveling by air.

Valedictory

By Ruth Ewing

Friends and Classmates:

At last Commencement night is here, the night to which we, the Seniors, have looked forward for so long a time. All the years of our school life our energies have been, consciously or unconsciously directed toward this hour of graduation. From our earliest days we have looked upon this day as the culmination of our ambitions—the end of all our aspirations—the realization of our ideals. To this end we have studied and worked and planned. Now the hour to which we have so long looked forward has arrived. As we pause to think for a moment before taking the next step, we must naturally express our regret for some misspent hours and misdirected energies.

Some of us wish that we had tried to appreciate our schooling more than we did, while all of us dread the thought of having to sever our relations with dear old Medina High School. Yet, despite these regrets, for the most part these have been happy, busy, well-spent days. Of course, we, one and all, feel we could live them more fully and completely if we were permitted to repeat them. But, alas that is the way of life, the past is gone, we cannot recall it; but how wonderful it is that we have the future before us, offering us endless opportunities for accomplishment.

Truly, we have finished but to begin. But on this threshold of a larger, broader, fuller life—of another and greater existence, we must find some point in the distance far ahead toward which to direct our future activities.

The time has now come when we must lay aside the trivial affairs of childhood days and begin to think about more serious things. The time has come when we must choose our profession if we haven't already done so, that we may be ready to conquer life's problems as they confront us. Some of us must start out in life with just our high school education; while others, who are more fortunate, are to better their education by going to college. But which ever way, I feel confident that all of us realize that we can give to the world no worthy accomplishment or worth-while service unless we carry within ourselves sufficient will-power, purpose, and industry to enable us to continue our growth and development. Along with this we must carry in our hearts and minds high aims and noble ambitions. For it has been said "Not failure, but low aim, is crime." We must aim for something or we will never reach anything. As Robert Browning says:

"A man's reach must exceed his grasp or what's a heaven for?" However high they may aim, or however successful they may be, may the members of our class never be so unfortunate as to fully realize the accomplishment of all their high ideals. Let us hope that our ideals may grow higher and broader, more rapidly than our ability to realize them.

Our school has done much toward fitting us for life's work. It has helped to mold our character and mind. We have made many friends here, with both our classmates and teachers. We have been treated, one and all, in a fair and square way. Our faculty have taken a keen interest in us and have helped to bring out whatever good qualities we may possess.

Thus, with such a good foundation, we, the Seniors, ought to be ready to start to build the frame work of life in such a manner that we might all become a credit, not a debit, to our school and town.

We have finished our high school work in order to begin life's work. According to our motto, "We finish to begin." Life is a mere succession of tasks. We finish one so as to begin another.

Perhaps we might say finishing high school is the first stepping stone to success. But don't think for a moment that it is success, for it is not. We may liken it to a little town on the road to a city. We could stop here but we would be a long way from the city which is our destination. It would be perhaps just a refueling station. A place to buy gasoline but nothing more. So it is with graduating. We could stop here if we wished, but surely it would not be our destination, and who wants to stop before they reach their goal? Our goal is "success," and success is reaching the top. So if we would reach the top we cannot stop along the wayside to play. Some might say why try to reach the top, there isn't room for you there anyway. It is overcrowded now. But this is not so. There is always room at the top. It is at the bottom where it is crammed to the utmost.

But whatever our goal of success may be, let us hope that we will be remembered for our services to society at large, whether it be in the political, business, economic, or professional fields of life.

Now, as we are about to leave this part of our life and realize that our high school days will, hereafter, be as mere recollections, we wish to bid you one and all a sincere farewell.

Class Song '30

(Tunes Highways are Happy Ways)

Schools days are happy days
Urging each to make a name.
School days and happy ways
Make characters that lead to fame.
And when we've parted and the years follow along,
May we each profit from all our teaching and song,
As youth is the pattern time
For the years that are to come.

Sara Louise Denton.

Senior Class Prophecy

By John Wyman

It was Tuesday, May 15, 1950. But to me it was just another day. Day in and day out I sat in my office doing my regular routine of work. Being the head of the Consolidated Oil Co., a merger of the Standard and Shell and Refiners, my time was well occupied. Nine-thirty to ten I opened my mail; so I started, in my hurried and rapid fashion, till I came upon a formal looking letter. Probably an invitation to the Vanderbilt's house party and, as usual, I would pass it up. But for curiosity's sake I opened it. And, lo and behold! It was an invitation to the Alumni Banquet of 1950.

I had lost track of a Class of Thirty. I sat back in my easy office chair and thought what a thrill it had given me to graduate and join the Alumni Association. There came into my head an idea, that it would be a wonderful plan to get the class together and go in a body to the banquet in two of my new air liners. I rang the bell for my secretary and told her to open lines to the telephone office for private use and not to permit business to disturb us for two hours. Gosh! That was two hundred dollars worth of my time, but for the Class of "30" it was worth it.

Let's see—Roy Williams was president. Yes, I'll call Roy. But where? "My business directory, Ruth, (Ruth Ewing was my secretary) look up Williams, Roy. What! Why, our own attorneys. Call him and ask for a list of the graduating class of "30". There were sixty-three in our class; where will they be, what will they be, and what will they be doing? Well, here goes; I'll call them. I'll go right down the list."

"L. Abbott, sure, Selzer & Abbott, Employment Agency. Next, Armbruster, noted explorer, just back from Africa. Oh yes, there is Brandow, leader of the Hick Town three piece jazz band at Poe. Eleanor and Eloise Beedle. Where have I heard the name of Beedle before? Beedle and Beedle, designers and dress makers, that's where my wife got those new dresses for two thousand dollars apiece and charged them, after I had told her not to run bills. Who's next, Ruth?—Escott? Didn't Lefty marry Ella Mae Tibbitts? Lefty Escott—football was Lefty's sport. Football, by Jove! Isn't there an Escott coach at Notre Dame? Yes, Sir, that's Lefty and Ella Mae. I always knew Lefty would make a coach with Ella Mae to drive him on. Who follows Lefty? Herb Carsten! I saw that name in the morning paper. A murder in the paper too this morning, gee, that can't be Herb. Ruth, get me a paper. Here it is, Herb Carsten knocks off 18 yesterday. When the New York Giants beat the Cleveland Indians. That's old Herbie all right, still knocking 'em off. Next one, Ruth. Crandall is working in a confectionery in Medina. Curtis—Dot is a social secretary to John D. Rockefeller, Jr. What's after Dot? Dake—Oh yes, Lawrence Dake, noted physicist at Ohio State. Homer Davis? Ruth, look in file 36, section 50 on personal interest. Opera tickets. Oh yes! Homer Davis, famous opera star at the Opera House this week. Boy, what luck we're having. Who follows the Opera man? Sara Denton? To be sure, Sara and Corky. Yes sir! In Cleveland, Hoff Music Emporium. Hoff will make good 'cause Sara always could control him."

'Who's next Ruth? Max Dougherty. To be sure, pool champion of the world. Good for Max. He learned at Eddie's Pool Room where the gang always used to hang out. Who's after Max? Robert Eddy. Ruth look in file 105 section G. Yes, just as I thought. Eddy, Helma and Kiefer, inventors of a new gas saving device I had to buy to save my business. Next, Hazel Elder, I've lost track of her. We must not forget Marion Fulton of Fulton, Lance and Mabry Vaudeville Act. Who comes after Marion? Joy Garra? I think she is an instructor in Elocution at Vassar. Next. Janet Gibbs, greatest saleslady of Chevrolets. Who follows Janet? Ethel Hassin. I owe a concern of Hassin and Lubin $360 for my wife's beauty. That's it, Ethel Hassin and Nettie Lubin. Who's next? Hazel Holcomb. She is teaching school in Cleveland. On with the list. Elsie Hopkins. She is now principal of M. H. S. Mary Kelemen is teaching history, following the footsteps of Miss Phillips. Who follows Mary? Raymond Kendall, I don't know do you? A preacher you say, well he always was a fast talker. What do you think? Flora McCarrier a poetess! Guess she must be the one the world has just acclaimed."

"I almost forgot McFadden and Myers—I'll bet the Mic and Harold are farmers in a big way. I just learned the other day that Elizabeth Mettie is the President's cook at the White House. Nettleton is also at the White House as one of the Janitors. Mae Nichols—I believe that Mae and Bea Oakes are doctors studying in Germany. How about Clarence Orcutt? Call Roy. I think that Clarence is a lawyer working for Roy. Do you remember Eddie Paul? I don't know but I think Eddie has a bakery in San Diego. Who follows Eddie? Junior Potts, of course, June works for me, building rigs. Lucia Rickard? I can't say I know where Lucia is but I am sure an old maid like Letha Ritter would know where some of these people are. Call her right away and we'll find out what we don't know. Maynard Schafer? That's easy. He is the Post-master General. Letha says Ruby Selzer is a nurse in Chicago. Oh yes! Martha Shirey and Hallie Shook are working for the great A. & P. Tea Co. And Cotta Smith? Cotta has been at Chippewa Lake all her life and Letha says she is still there, eh? Who follows Cotta? Marjean Smith. Marjean runs the Country Club at Medina.

What has become of William Smith? That's easy, for Bill and I are cronies and he is the head of the Pan-American Railroad. Bill will help get the classmates from the West to Chicago where we will pick them up. Next, Helen Tanner. I can tell you very little about Helen Tanner other than Helen and LaDonna Williams are missionaries in Africa. Who mentioned George Thomas? Oh, Letha says George has advanced from the saw room of Root's Bee Supplies to the presidency of the concern. Dorothy Voorhees? Letha says she is the first woman mayor of Medina. Speaking of Dorothy puts me in mind of Ruth White. Ruth and Helene Winters are touring musicians now in Miami. Wesley Whitfield? Wesley is the Senator from Ohio. And Lucille Whitmore? I saw her last night at the "Show of Shows" as Hollywood's most beautiful actress."

"I guess that's all, isn't it?" "Yes, all except Mac Brought and I think you know where she is, Mr. Wyman." "Gosh, yes, as if I could forget. She is going to buy a new Ford roadster herself today. That woman will be the breaking of me yet. That's that. Now we know where all the members of the Class of '30" are and I can have them all picked up and we'll soon be on our way to the Alumni Banquet of 1950 of Old Medina High."

Class Will

By Ruth White

We, the Class of 1930, being of sound and disposing mind, do hereby publish and declare the following as, and for, our last will and testament, revoking all other will and codicils heretofore made.

Item I: To the Juniors, we bequeath the innumerable errors which we have committed during our four years of high school. We do this in order to more nearly balance their perfection.

Item II: Our diligence and love for study we present to the Sophomores.

Item III: We honor the Freshmen with our spelling ability on condition that they make good use of it by winning the cup in 1931.

In addition to these general bequests, we beg leave to submit the following individual bequests:

Lawrence Dake bequeaths his quietness to Frank Averill and Frank Simmerman so that the other members of the American History class will be able to take some part in the discussion.

John Wyman, otherwise known as George Washington Gettum, bestows an extraordinarily large safety pin upon Jimmy Brown.

We are more than sorry to part with such a distinctive laugh as that of Maynard McFadden's, but have decided to give it to Harold Spahr.

We present Lucia Rickard's ability to giggle at any time to Margaret Dundas.

Clarence Orcutt wills his ability to write thrilling notes to girl friends to Red Cole.

For the sake of their future employers we bestow Eleanor and Eloise Beedle's similarity upon Tom and Joe Englert.

Max Dougherty bequeaths his ability to sleep during an entire Advanced Algebra class to Bob Rowe.

Maynard Shafer is unwilling to give up his position as an employee to Uncle Sam.

Lawrence Abbott expresses himself as very glad to give up his alphabetical right to the front seat to John Abbott.

Letha Ritter agrees to give her ability to eat more sandwiches than anyone else to Esther Eastwood, on the condition that Esther will loan it to her whenever she is invited to a party.

Maxine Brought wills her ability to spend half of the sewing period primping before the fitting room mirror to Frances Rockwell.

Raymond Kendall wishes to be relieved of the weight of the small sized alarm clock which he carries. He says he will give it to any Junior who will wind it daily in Civics class.

After a great deal of coaxing we have at last persuaded Mae Nichols to give her noisy manners to Rozella Wyman.

Mary Keleman presents her love for argument to Aunda McCool. Don't you pity Red?

We are very proud of the innocence (so infrequently found, these days) of Marjean Smith and Red Whitmore, when, after writing notes quite openly for an entire period, they still believe that Mr. Fenn hasn't seen them. This rightly goes to Miriam Snyder and Claude Edwards.

We take the greatest of pleasure in presenting Corwin Hoff's leisurely manner and infrequent speech to Billy Batchelder.

Ella Mae Tibbitt's ability to learn poetry is bestowed upon Ernest Pelton.

LaDonna Williams bequeaths her ability to break all typing speed records to Marcella Aylard, providing she makes good use of it and wins a gold medal.

Dorothy Curtis' love for staying after school to study is presented to Lyman Koons.

The basketball ability of Herbert Carsten and Roy Williams is given to Jack Pate and Funny Oberholzer, with best wishes for next year's team.

Ethel Hassin is willing to loan her ability to take dictation in shorthand to Adelia Arndt, but says she must have it back as soon as she gets her first job as stenographer.

Sara Denton wishes to impart a portion of the lofty atmosphere where her head remains most of the time to Lawrence Leggett, to save him, Sara explains, from having to use stilts.

Martha Shirey regretfully bequeaths her privilege of wearing a Wadsworth class ring to Harriet Jason.

We present Gleason Halliwell with Wesley Whitfield's habit of eating candy and peanuts in Economics class.

We are more than happy to bestow Paul Nettleton's bright remarks upon Myron Kennedy.

Edna Lance has declared herself willing to donate her curls to Florence Bagger.

Robert Kiefer presents his Ford to Marcel Hoff to end the arguments between him and Corwin when they both pick the same night to use the family Dodge.

Homer Davis very generously offers to give his vocal talent to Louis Hofstetter.

We divide Clarence Escott's football ability equally among the members of next year's team in the hope that they again beat Wadsworth.

Flora McCarrier bequeaths her habit of being anywhere from one minute to one hour late to school every morning to Pearl Smith.

Edna Mabry wills her ready smile and sunny disposition to Pete Woods.

Hazel Holcomb agrees to give her ability to go through High School in three years to Pauline Perkins.

We present Lawrence Prehn with Eddie Paul's ability to make neat looking packages of loaves of bread, buns, cakes, etc.

Charles Helma bequeaths his love for the higher Mathematics to Walter Thomas.

Janet Gibbs wills a portion of her height to Nora Bennett but selfishly refuses to even loan her boy friend.

We bestow Junior Pott's habit of winking at all the girls upon Stubby Rickard.

Joy Garra says that she will give her love for English Literature to Herman Watkins.

Beatrice Oakes, in a most generous spirit, offers to bequeath her debating ability to Paul Swigart.

Nettie Lubin tells us that a great improvement would be made by transferring her gift of golden silence to her sister, Esther.

Ralph Armbruster presents his knowledge of scientific farming to Garnard Cowling.

After much thought upon the subject Ray Selzer unselfishly agrees to bestow his love for Civics upon John Navratil.

Elizabeth Mettie as, Miss Stewart's first assistant, bequeaths her privilege of being late to classes without having to get an excuse, to Irene Jacob.

We think our Senior dignity is well displayed by Elsie Hopkins when she tiptoes quietly into a class room to call someone to the telephone. Elsie is willing to give this to Dorothy Wilbur.

Robert Eddy bequeaths his love for Bill Smith to Miss Phillips to be bestowed upon Dudley Bagley.

Marcella Crandell presents her pink and white complexion to Zoe Walters to take the place of certain frequent applications from a vanity case.

We have noticed lately in Hazel Elder a most astonishing lack of class spirit. She positively refuses to share her boy friend with any of us and she won't even let the girls look at her diamond for more than one and one-half minutes at a time.

Helene Winters, who will undoubtedly be the world's next Fritz Kreisler, bequeaths her ability as a violinist to Milford Harley.

Elsie Lentz is willing to give a few of her surplus pounds to any Junior who thinks he has lost weight working on the annual.

George Thomas bequeaths his ambition in working at Root's every afternoon after school to Welden Anderson.

Hallie Shook bestows her ability to put a Chevrolet through its paces to Madeline Palmer.

Helen Tanner very regretfully gives up her loud voice to Arline Buffington.

Ruth Ewing presents her habit of continually chewing gum to her best girl friend, Mary Luella Foscett, in the hope that the constant exercise may help to reduce her chin.

Harold Myers bequeaths his knowledge of farming to Mr. Thimas, who says that the life ambition of all musicians is to retire and live on a farm.

Dorothy Voorhees tells us that she would like very much to give a certain silver initialed ring which she wears to some one, but adds that she doesn't think you really ought to give away things that don't belong to you.

Marian Fulton wills her ability to carry off first prize in a beauty contest to Ruth Shue.

Cotta Smith bequeaths her ability to play flutes to Arlene Huffman and Ruth Rickard providing they make good use of it in the High School orchestra next year.

Ruby Selzer imparts her ability to cook lunches for the teachers to Kathryn Kaufman.

In the event that any of these bequeaths is ignored the entire property of the Senior class must be sold at auction and the proceeds used to buy food for the goldfish in the park.

The Senior Class—By Ruth White.

Witnesses: Juniors, Sophomores, Freshmen.

Sue Andrews, Sarah's niece	Ella Mae Tibbits
Adeline Perkins, the town's old maid	Marjean Smith
Luella Crawford, sweetest girl in Sweet Springs	Lucille Whitmore
Fanny, the hired girl	Mary Keleman
Larry Wilson, an unexpected visitor	Corwin Hoff
Ted Porter	LeRoy William
Adam King, Nancy's peppery uncle	Wesley Whitfield

SYNOPSIS OF THE SCENES

A three-act comedy. Act I. Living room in the home of Sarah Andrews. Act II. The same, a week later. Act III. The same, several days later.

Due to the sudden arrival of her uncle, Adam King, it is necessary for Nancy King to either get married immediately, or find some one to pretend to be her husband. Nancy, a very ambitious girl, is manager of the Happy Hour Hotel in Stratton. In order for her to secure the position, she had to tell her uncle that she was married.

Mr. King, who is in partnership with a Mr. Wilson, had owned a string of hotels and also a peach recipe, is very much perturbed over the sudden change of events. Mr. Wilson sold his share in the business to Mr. King and a short time later he died. Since his death, Larry Wilson, his son, had investigated the conveyance of the business, and had found a flaw in the transaction. Adam King has come to Sweet Springs to hide his recipe and see that the business of the hotel is ruined.

Nancy calls upon her friends for help, among whom are her landlady, Sarah, Sue Andrews, Ted Porter, Adeline Perkins, the town gossip, and last but not least Jimmy McCabe, who is in truth the private detective for Larry Wilson; all these refuse to assist. To complicate matters Larry Wilson, a stranger to all except Jimmy, takes a room at the home of Sarah Andrews and just at the critical moment declares himself to be Nancy's husband.

Nancy and Larry, although to all outward appearances, hating each other, fall in love. The friendship of Larry Wilson with the town's sweetheart, Luella Crawford, helps to make matters more interesting. The play ends happily when Adam King, who in order to recover the peach recipe which he has mistakenly given to Larry, consents to the marriage of the couple.

Senior Class Poem

We finish but to begin—
Begin our journey of life,
Leaving the harbor of High School days,
Into the sea of strife.

Following the ships that have gone before
O'er life's uncharted sea,
As we face the gale, or rocky shore,
May we undaunted be.

Some may sail to the far flung Isles—
Toward the land of the setting sun,
And some on the shoals may wreck their barks—
'Ere the voyage is well begun.

May the dreams we've dreamed, the hopes we've held—
Throughout our school days bright
Be with us still when we enter Port,
Led by the Beacon Light.

Flora Diane McCarrier.

Senior B and Junior A Class History

By Jeannette Wait

Nothing like tooting your own horn. Nobody else will so we have to, although a grade teacher in the Garfield recently said that never before or after had she ever had such a clever class as the Junior Class of this year.

We entered High School in 1927 somewhat as a flat tire but soon got all pumped and puffed up till we are the proud class of 1931.

P.S.—Take all this with a couple grains of salt, to be used when necessary.

Junior B Class History

By Beatrice Bowman

Don't forget the dictionary now—

It is with the greatest extremity of perpetuating superfluosity that a few lines of verbal intercourse are penned concerning our class.

As eyes are ardently focused on this enchanting group of super-natural so-called Juniors, it is plainly shown that there is still excess room for improvement.

Nevertheless we regret that our class will be rather shattered after this year, due to entering old M. H. S. in February 1928. But we as a class hope to retain the spirit of the Junior Class of '30.

Sophomore A Class History

By Rae Root

Our late slumber was broken by the ever present thought, "School for a group of frightened Freshies."

We have certainly wised up a bit since the green Frosh year and we have done our share in contributing fame, pep, talent and mischief to M. H. S. for the past two years.

Ablett Jane, Anderson Weldon, Auble Irma, Bair Eugene, Barnett Pauline, Barrow Korena, Beedle Leila, Bennett Harold, Brainard Marcella, Brophy Glenn, Brown James, Butdorff Ballard, Charlton Pauline, Edwards Stanley, Foote Earl, Gordon Dorothy, Heiss Robert, Hoff Marcel, Hubal Raymond, Kennedy Mabel, Kirk Kenneth, Navratil Evelyn, Orcutt Willis, Perkins Pauline, Potts Robert, Rockwell Frances, Rollins Helen, Schmidt Clinton, Schwenk Helen, Shaver Grace, Snyder Helen, Spahr Dorothy, Taylor Corwin, Thompson Harold, Webb Helen, Whitmore Russell.

Sophomore B Class History

By Edith Short

One fine January morning in 1929 a very green bunch of "Freshies" ascended the steps of Medina High School, and on that dreaded but pleasant day we were initiated into finding the rooms.

With the help of Miss Watters we got along very well and passed a pleasant year as 1B's.

In September we became 1A's and it was a great satisfaction to realize that we were no longer "the babies" of High School.

The following January we became Sophomores and we were transferred to Rooms 227 and 228. Our officers for this year: president, Harold Thompson; vice-president, Dorothy Spahr; secretary-treasurer, Edith Short.

We are a very busy class and hope to do something for Medina High School before we leave it.

Freshman A Class History

By Jack Glaze

In the fall of 1929, seventy "green" freshmen entered the Medina High School. We were put under the care of Miss Watters, Mr. Claggett and Mr. Masi. Although we were "green" we progressed very rapidly, until we were very proud to be A's of Medina High. We have several athletes, debaters and musicians.

Freshman B Class History

By Virginia Haldorson

In the fall of '29, about thirty-five boys and girls enrolled in Medina High School's building. We were only eighth graders then, and felt very much left out by the "Big Kids" of the upper classes. But, since we're now "Freshies," we'll ask them to step out of our way, as we aim to leave a record worth mentioning in the history of Medina High.

Social

High School Class Parties

Every year there is a series of very lovely class parties at our Medina High School. Every class from the potential Seniors to the greenest of green Freshies have their class parties. You usually think of the Seniors as dignified but just listen to one of them tell how they made Mr. Masi the joke of their party and you will change your mind. The Juniors may be haughty at times but far be it from them to be haughty at a class party. Perhaps you have heard of the Bum Convention. That is what the Sophomore A's turned their party into. The Sophomore B's had an enjoyable time at their class party also. Then the Freshmen trailing along in the footsteps of the rest of us in our old Alma Mater had their party too. So, you see, our dear High School enjoyment is not confined to the class room.—Lucille Arnold.

Faculty Parties

Last fall, the School Board members and the Faculty had a picnic at Scanlon's grove. Each member acted in a manner that was in accordance with the name of the grove, and the result was a "real picnic."

On February 24, occurred the biggest social event of the season. Although the only items that can be obtained are just from rumors for it was strictly private. The masculine faculty members gave a party, yes, the feminine faculty members were invited. We are extremely sorry that no reporter could be present so that the account might be written up with greater detail.—Edith B. Allen.

High School Picnic

The big High School Picnic was held this year at Chippewa Lake. The inter-class baseball tournaments, tennis tournaments and so on were all played off. Did we have fun? And oh! Those eats!

Junior-Senior Banquet

The big event in the lives of the little Juniors came in May when they were permitted to furnish the Seniors with a banquet, the annual Junior-Senior banquet. I am sure a good time was had by all, not only in eating but also in dancing afterwards.—Jeannette Wait.

Hi-Y

By Vincent Lutz

The Medina Hi-Y is divided into two sections, the Junior-Senior group under the direction of Sydney Fenn and the Freshman-Sophomore group under the direction of Howard E. Claggett. There are about 12 boys in the Junior-Senior group and 20 in the Freshman-Sophomore group. The latter part of the year the two groups have had several joint meetings with talks by local professional and business men. Their talks were to help the Hi-Y boys in choosing a vocation and they certainly profited by them.

Several trips have been made to Cleveland and Akron for the purpose of visiting points of interest in these cities.

The year was closed by a picnic which all enjoyed.

Girl Reserves

By Helen Kindig

The Girl Reserves who are sponsored by the Y. W. C. A., started this year with a big membership campaign.

At the close of this contest the winning team was treated by the losing teams. After a delicious supper we had rough initiation of the new members.

In the fall the girls made baskets from reed.

At Christmas time they filled stockings and sang carols.

At some of the weekly meetings we have interesting discussion groups.

This year the G. R. Conference was held at Warren and was attended by four Medina girls. The girls came back with many good ideas, among which was an inspiration to give a play. Our advisors liking the idea, consented to help us give one. "How Do You Do Medina?" was the result which proved very successful.

High School Music Notes

By Harold Spahr

This year the musical activities of Medina High School were confined to the choruses, the band and the orchestras.

Mr. Thomas, our new music supervisor, has organized a boys' and girls' Eighth and Ninth Grade Glee Club of which the school has great expectations.

On the evenings of March 27 and 28, the High School Orchestra played for the "Womanless Wedding," an entertainment in which all the parts were played by men.

The orchestra played for two or three other programs.

The High School Band has played in several assemblies, and it has also played for most of the football and basketball games.

At different times during the year music was also furnished by two jazz orchestras, one of which was under the direction of Jeannette Wait and the other under the direction of "Tony" Moore.

Debate

The Medina, Wadsworth, Barberton Triangle, this year debated the question: "Resolved that trial by judge or board of judges be substituted for trial by petit jury in the U. S."

On Friday afternoon, March 21, the Wadsworth negative team came here to meet Medina's affirmative team, composed of Jeannette Wait, captain, Helen Gable, Beatrice Oakes, and Lucille Arnold. The judge, Professor Hayworth of Akron University, gave the decision to Wadsworth.

On the same afternoon, the Medina negative team, composed of Billy Batchelder, captain, Paul Swigart, Earl Foote and William Hammerschmidt went to Barberton to debate with their affirmative team. Professor Burns, of Baldwin-Wallace, awarded the decision to Barberton.

Since Wadsworth's affirmative team secured a victory over Barberton's negative team at Wadsworth, Wadsworth became the winner in the triangle.

Vocational Agriculture Notes

The aim of Vocational Agriculture is to prepare the high school boy for an occupation of farming and to develop in him the characteristics of a good farmer. A four year high school course is offered. One credit is offered each year except the sophomore when two are offered, farm shop being the extra one.

All the boys are required to have a home project of crops or livestock where he may put into practice what he learns in school.

Much community work is carried on by the departments such as milk and seed corn testing, spraying orchards and testing soils. This year while the boys were studying farm management they planned a complete drainage system for a farm in the vicinity. The class built two brooder houses for farmers this year.

Educational trips are planned each year and this year the boys attended Drainage Day at Wooster, and took a trip to Cleveland where they went through several manufacturing plants.

Mr. Duke took an apple judging team to Columbus to compete at Ohio State University against seventy-five other teams. Mr. Duke also plans to take a truck load of project livestock to the Ohio State Fair this summer.

Football

Calrence Escott, Class of 1930, Left End. "Lefty" who was our captain for the 1929 season, surely could play football. He was a great defensive player and we shall miss his ability to roll down the opposition.

Corwin Hoff, Class of 1930, Right Tackle. Corwin, who played his last year of football for M. H. S. surely proved his worth in stopping plays. He played his best against Dalton. Corwin did not miss a minute of play.

Maynard McFadden, Class of 1930, Left Guard. "Sleepy" as he was called, surely was not asleep in the Wellington, where he really did move quickly. He sure did like the shower room.

Junior Potts, Class of 1930, Halfback. "June" was always ready to give his best for the old high school when he was called. He proved his worth snaring passes for long gains.

John Wyman, Class of 1930, Right Guard. "Johnny" who was very aggressive, could break through the opponent's line to stop plays and throw them for losses.

Roy Williams, Class of 1930, Fullback. Roy, who did not report until late in the season, became one of the best defensive men, as he tackled hard and fair.

Edward Paul, Class of 1930, End. "Eddie," who was very fast on his feet, was always willing to do his best for the Green and White.

Eugene Cole, Class of 1931, Quarterback. "Red," our smallest backfield member, surely made up for his weight in calling signals, which much of our success depended upon. We are glad "Red" will be with us next year.

Jack Pate, Class of 1931, Fullback. "Jack," playing his first year with the Green and White, carried the ball for many gains and was a good man going thru the line.

Brayton Moore, Class of 1932, Halfback. "Tony," who turned out to be one of our surest blockers, and could he tackle? He starred in the Wadsworth game when he ripped their lines to shreds.

Clayton Oberholtzer, Class of 1931, Right End. "Funny," who was one of our fastest men on the team was good at receiving passes for touchdowns doing this in the Akron Garfield and Wellington games.

Fred Grimm, Class of 1931, Left Tackle. Fred was good at getting through the line to the man with the ball, and once he got through the man stopped. Fred has another year to play. He always has given us his best.

Milford Harley, Class of 1932, Guard. "Mif" started out to play in the backfield but Sam decided to develop a lineman out of him and his weight helped.

John Navratil, Class of 1932, Guard. "John" playing his first year of football, surely had the old fight when we needed it. We are glad he has two more years.

Herman Watkins, Class of 1932, Center. "Herm," who came out for any position soon developed into one of our best defensive lineman. He gave his opponents much trouble when they tried to take him out of the way.

Dana Cole, Class of 1932, Center. "Dana," who played when the field was wet sure could pass the pigskin to the backfield on those kind of days, when the ball is slippery.

Adam Palker, Class of 1932, End. Adam became one of our most aggressive men, kept Wooster from scoring almost single handed.

James Carter, Class of 1933, Halfback. "Jimmy" sure could go around those ends for gains which dismayed the opponents. Did he go through that Wellington line?

Jack Pate, Corwin Hoff, Clarence Escott, Roy Williams, Myron Kennedy, Norman Effinger, Clayton Oberholtzer, Junior Potts, Harold Musch, John Wyman, James Brown, Sam Masi, coach.

The Basketball Team

By Jack Pate

HERBERT CARSTEN—Center

"Herb" played center for Medina, where he proved to be the key man to both offense and defense. He was a good shot and was equally as good with his floor work. There will be a big gap left at "Herb's" post next year.

CLARENCE ESCOTT—R. Guard

"Lefty" was shifted from center to a guard position, where he developed into a great defensive guard. "Lefty" played hard and seldom fouled his opponent. His ability to get rebound shots proved a big factor in Medina's defense. "Lefty" played his last year for Medina.

CORWIN HOFF—L. Guard

Hoff is one of the best guards ever turned out at Medina, this was his third and last year. He could score from any place on the floor. He made most of his counters from long range and could always be depended upon in a close call.

JUNIOR POTTS—Forward*

Potts earned his letter playing a forward position. He was a good shot from both short and long range. Potts was right there when called upon to toss a free throw in a close game. He has played his last game for Medina.

LEROY WILLIAMS—R. Forward

"Roy" was a fast, shifty and aggressive forward. He was a crack shot from any angle on the floor with equal accuracy. This is Roy's last season with Medina. His position is going to be hard to fill next year.

JACK PATE—Left Forward

This was Jack's first year at Medina High School. Therefore, it was his first year to play on basketball team, but he filled his position well as will be noted in that he was high point man of this season. We sure will miss Jack for part of next year as he will only be able to play in a few games.

Grimm Frederick, Carsten Herbert, Escott Clarence, Hoff Corwin, Moore Brayton, Carter James, Cole Eugene, Pate Jack, Brown James, Coach Masi, Kirk Russell, Smith Robert, Leggett Lawrence, Auker Merle, Frost Norris, Harley Milford, Grimm Donald.

BRAYTON MOORE—Class of 1931

“Tony”—Tony is our left-handed first baseman, he picks them off the ground or jumps in the air for them.

CORWIN HOFF—Class of 1930

“Hoff”—Hoff holds down the job on second. He is an excellent man for the position and is good at picking up grounders.

CLARENCE ESCOTT—Class of 1930

“Lefty”—Our left-handed pitcher. He has lots of steam and has fanned many batters and can be relied on in a tight game. He is also a good batter.

HERBERT CARSTEN—Class of 1930

“Herb”—Our other pitcher. Herb has good control and is also an excellent pitcher.

RUSSELL KIRK—Class of 1931

“Russ”—Russ is playing his second year at third base, and is doing a very good job of it.

EUGENE COLE—Class of 1931

“Red”—This is Red’s third year at catch. He has blocked many runners at home. He is also a good hitter and clever base runner.

DONALD GRIMM—Class of 1932

“Funny”—A snappy fielder and a good batter. He has two more years to represent the green and white on the diamond.

LEROY WILLIAMS—Class of 1930

“Roy”—A snappy little short-stop and he is good at picking up fast ones. This is Roy’s last year and we will miss him next season.

JACK PATE—Class of 1931

“Jack”—Jack is new here, but has had a lot of experience in the infield and we’re going to expect a lot from him.

JIMMY CARTER—Class of 1933

“Jimmy”—This is Jimmy’s first year. He is a good infielder and plays third base.

MILFORD HARLEY—Class of 1932

“Miff”—This is Miff’s second year. He has improved considerably over last year, and plays first base. He is also a heavy hitter.

FREDERICK GRIMM—Class of 1931

“Fred”—Fred is a good fielder and we’re going to expect much of him. This is his first year at baseball but he is a good player.

NORRIS FROST—Class of 1931

“Frost”—Frost is a good fielder and can be relied on to stop everything that comes his way.

ANGUS MAITLAND—Class of 1932

Varsity Track

By Clayton Oberholtzer

Coaches Claggett and Jenkins have charge of the track this season. The track events are under the tutelage of Coach Claggett and the field events under Coach Jenkins. Paul Aylard and Ralph Lower have been appointed managers.

Many of last year's candidates have reported and along with the newcomers, making track attainment look promising.

The following candidates who have been out and working hard for a place on the team, and their respective merits are hereby listed:

D. Cole—100 yd., 200 yd. dashes, relay. This is Cole's first year and we hope he will make a good showing.

Spahr—200 yd., 440 yd. dashes, relay. Harold will also experience his first year in athletic competition.

Prehn—440 yd. dash, one-half mile run, relay. This is Prehn's first year in athletic endeavor.

Clement—Half mile and mile run. Clement is one of our most promising distance runners. He is a Freshman so much can be expected of him before he graduates.

Gage—Javelin, shot. This is Joe's first season. We hope he applies his "excess baggage" to heaving the shot.

L. Hoff—200 low hurdles. Lloyd is another freshman who will be out "burning up" the cinder path.

Pate—Pole vault and relay. Jack was pole vault champ of Medina County last year. We wish him the same success in the coming larger meets.

C. Hoff—Shot and discus. Being Corwin's last season, we hope it may outshine all the rest.

V. Lutz—High jump. Bing is out for his first season of track. He will make his opponents "hustle".

Kennedy—Mile, half mile. Myron is a sophomore and trying hard to land a place on the team.

C. Smith—100 yd. and 220 yd. dashes, relay. We forecast a splendid season for this sophomore prospect.

W. Thomas—440 yd. and 220 yd. dashes, relay. "Walt" has the determination that is bound to make him a success.

R. Smith—220 yd. and 440 yd. dashes. "Bob" is a freshman and has bright hopes for future achievements.

Koons—100 yd. dash, pole-vault. As this is "Koons" second season he will be a hard man to beat.

Eddy—Mile and half mile run. "Skeet" is out to make his last season "the best ever."

Oberholtzer—220 yd., low hurdles, relay. Oberholtzer will again slip over the "low sticks" for his third season.

Potts—100 yd. and 220 yd. dashes, broad jumping, javelin. "Our squad merchant" is out to eclipse his previous performances. This is his last season.

Abbott—High jump. John will jump five feet, six, according to the report of Coach Jenkins.

Escott—Pole vault, broad jump. "Lefty" is another senior who will make his deeds felt.

Carsten—Javelin, high jump. "Herb" was an outstanding star of last year. He is out to make a lasting impression for his alma mater.

Whitfield—100 yd. and 220 yd. dashes, relay. Altho this is Whitfield's first and last season of track he hopes to be in the running.

Cowling—Mile and half mile run, relay. "Garn" is a third year man. Our sensational miler will have to work hard to outdo his previous performances.

M. Hoff—100 yd. and 220 yd. dashes, relay. Marcel will experience his first year as he was ineligible last season.

The two ships, Fellowship and Sportsmanship, together with our most deserving captain, "Pete and Ginnie", and their mascots are anchored for this season, in full hopes of being piloted next year by Coach Allen, who for four years has cruised us to victory.

The Basketball Squad

By Beatrice Bowman

Center—AVERILL—Class '31

"Slats" is said to be the backbone of our squad, and we hear the coach is expecting to take up chiropractoring before next fall. But old "Slats" deserves the credit for her playing talent and honor of being second highest scorer this year, totaling 103 points.

Guard—BAGGER—Class '31

"Flops" is a bad case of "small but mighty," and we also regret that she has but two games next season to show us more of her ability.

Forward—BEEDLE—Class '30

"Brainy" is also small, but oh my, what a forward. It always took little "Brainy" to drop in the pot-shots and fouls. We are sure that her accuracy, speed and sportsmanship will be unable to be found in any other players.

Forward—BEEDLE—Class '30

"Bun" got it tough this year, getting to play only one game, but during that time she played up to her usual ability as a forward, regardless of her school days being over after that game.

Guard—BOWMAN—Class '31

"Bea" changed her position from forward to guard this year. Do you suppose she will play center next year? But no matter where she is placed she plays to the best of her ability. "Bula" especially likes to guard "try and reach me center."

(Gable & Allen)

Forward—BROUGHT—Class '30

"Muckle" is one of these stuck-up things on the squad, especially since our game with Fostoria (you know she was captain.) But we have to hand it to old "Muckle" for piling up the score, and we regret as much as she that this is her last year.

Guard—BUFFINGTON—Class '31

"Lefty" had a good time this season, and was one of the first to demonstrate our new guard song, "I'm following you." But she played well for her first year.

Guard—KOPPES—Class '33

"Re-Pete" got quite an honor of being on the squad her Freshman year, and when the opportunity came she did her duty as a guard.

Forward—CURTIS—Class '32

"Mid" is one of the high-steppers on the squad, and has all the qualifications of a real player.

Guard—DUNDAS—Class '32

"Jake" is another of these knock-down and drag-out guards, and when she makes up her mind to get that ball, the opponent gladly gives her the green light.

Forward—ECKER—Class '31

"Noisy" is the only one that has the record of drowning out the coach when it comes to talking. During the rest of the time she shows us what she is made of as a forward (not to be recorded).

Guard—GABLE—Class '31

"Pee-Wee" is one of these romantic looking frills who'd coolly throw a kiss at basketball, but ah, she's got the old fight by jove, and loves to ruff it up for her opponents as well as the rest of those guards.

Guard—GUNDER—Class '31—Honorary Captain

"Ginny" is the hefty guard that has her personal interference patented. With this and her knowledge (for basketball) "Ginny" was always there.

Forward—WOODS—Class '31—Honorary Captain

"Pete" is just an old refrain, and the first time is yet to be seen when anyone stops "Pete" from putting that ball where she wants it. When she tires of this, she gives the squad an act of tight rope walking on the center-line. Although she often played guard, Pete was a high scorer, with 113 points.

Forward—McMILLAN—Class '31

"Sue" is just another star-gazer on the squad, and takes steps just to get a chance to have "Rang" remind her that she's traveling. Anyhow, she can make the buckets.

Forward—MERSING—Class '31

"Fuzzy" hasn't had much of a chance this season, but wait'll she cuts loose next year, she'll be envied by all players and fans.

Guard—ROCKWELL—Class '32

"Fran" is a go-getter to perfection, and has no consideration for rules or referees but disregarding all faults, it takes "Fran" to puzzle her center.

Forward—ROOT—Class '32

"Rae" we find is among all the other chasers of the sheepskin and boy friends, is well out in front. Especially at the counter after a game, little "Rae" is there first to put in her order.

Guard—SHIREY—Class '30

"Marty" has gone through her first and last year of torture on the squad, but must have liked it from the way she put her efforts into the games she played.

Guard—YESENSKY—Class '32

"Ann" showed us the Scotch in her when we had a game with Liverpool. Regardless of the opponent protest, Ann saved the Janitor a little overtime by sweeping up the floor.

Coach Allen, who developed our champions, won all the Northern Ohio High School Athletic League games and will retain the cup.

The Inter-class Basketball Tournament was held and the Juniors won.

Don't you wish you knew,
Where you'll be two years from now?
A great deal more than you do?
Why week end's go so fast?
Why you never get any telephone calls?
Why the business manager of the annual is so businesslike?
Why Freshmen are supposed to be green?
To whom Zoe Water's always writing notes?
What would happen if Sam would lose his gum?
How to acquire Mr. Fenn's pleasing personality?
Why Mettie is always in such a hurry?
Why Pete and Posy are always SKIPPING?
Why Miss Allen grades papers on way to assembly?

In Miss Allen's English Literature class:

Curley Gable: "Who is the Wizard of the North?"

Miss Allen: "All right class can any one tell us who the Wizard of the North is?"

Frank Simmerman: "Santa Claus."

Miss Phillips (In Civics class): "I want at least five pages written up on any national department."

Earnest Pelton: "I think I will write about the fire department."

Posy (In Chemistry class): "If I break any more dishes I will jump out the window."

Kellogg: "Don't forget to open the window."

We congratulate you, the class of 1930, not alone upon what you have accomplished, but upon your possibilities and we extend to you a cordial invitation to join our school the first Monday of any month, at which time new classes begin.

Manager

Oberlin School of Commerce

The Oberlin School of Commerce is recognized as the leading school of business in the country. It admits only high school graduates and offers advanced courses of training. Its graduates are holding fine positions all over the country. Many are drawing salaries from $5,000 to $10,000 a year while some are millionaires.

Any Seniors interested in advanced courses of business training would have unusual opportunities at Oberlin, where they would study with others of their own age and education and where they would not be held back in classes with many who have had little or no high school training.

It has now been under its present management for nearly 50 years. Its courses of training are far beyond the business college stage.

THRIFT AND ECONOMY

Like a flourishing tree that is often described as thrifty, so the man or woman who would flourish and prosper must be thrifty. And ECONOMY is a vital part of any THRIFT program. Probably no form of Thrift and Economy has appealed so strongly to the American Public as has life insurance.
